

Measurement and signal conditioning of physical quantities for industrial process control

KASUBA-TÓTH, Endre

HB Mérnöki Iroda Kft.

endre.kasuba-toth@hbmiroda.hu

ABSTRACT

Keywords: physical quantities, signal conditioning, industrial process control, industry 4.0

Methods for measuring physical quantities like force, weight, displacement, torque, pressure, angle, vibration, temperature and strain in industry automation.

Typical problems during measurement and signal conditioning process. Sensor selection, sampling rate, filtering, type of signal conditioner, connection and integration into automation system, maintenance and management of the measuring chain.