Industry 4.0 – Now, Next, Beyond

The fourth Industrial revolution is happening right here, right now. We can't stop it, however we can drive it, to develop the digital environment and processes, which will lead us to the „Factory of the Future”. The new paradigm of production digitization, and interconnection can only come about, if the manufacturers have the will to go that route. In this presentation I am going to show, how the digitization process can be started, via the already available technologies, and where this route leads to, how our company imagines the future of manufacturing and logistics.

István Ács is the executive director of Bosch Rexroth Hungary, also the co-chairman of the National Technology Platform Association.
